

1. Interpretation

The Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme is provided in accordance with the Customer's Agreement with EE and the EE General Terms and Conditions for Business Customers.

2. Definitions

The definitions set out in the General Terms and Conditions for Business Customers apply to these Terms except as amended below:

"Android Device"	means a device with an android operating system.
"Customer Data"	the Customer ID, and the list of Device IDs for the Android Devices that the Customer has purchased from EE.
"Customer ID"	the identification number Google assigns to a Customer after such Customer registers for a customer account with Google.
"Device ID"	a number or identifier that uniquely identifies each Android Device, including but not limited to IMEIs (International Mobile Station Equipment Identity), MEIDs (Mobile Equipment Identifier), or device serial numbers.
"Google"	means Google Ireland Limited, a company existing under the laws of the Republic of Ireland with its place of business at Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin.
"Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme"	means the registration and verification of a Customer Device and Customer Data as more particularly described in this Agreement.
"Google Zero Touch Portal"	means the online portal owned and managed by Google that allows the Customer to undertake device management activities on Android Devices registered on the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme.

3. Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme

3.1	Service	3.1.1	Provided that a Customer has purchased Android Devices from EE, EE will enrol and register the Android Devices using the Customer Data with Google for participation in the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme.
		3.1.2	Once EE has registered the Android Devices with Google, the Customer will be able to manage the Android Devices through a multitude of options.
		3.1.3	EE is solely responsible for the initial and subsequent enrolment of Android Devices to the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme and EE is not responsible nor liable to the Customer whatsoever for any issues relating to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (i) queries, faults or issues with the Google Zero Touch Portal; (ii) the functions and features, including their operation and availability, of any device management service; or (iii) any other services provided by Google through the Google Touch Enrolment Programme.
		3.1.4	The Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme is provided free of charge to the Customer.
		3.1.5	Android Devices are usually enrolled onto the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme within 2 working days from the day the Android Device is dispatched to the Customer. However, EE relies on Google's own processing timescales and therefore EE does not guarantee, represent or warrant any timescales for enrolment of the Android Devices on the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme.
		3.1.6	Google may change the features of the Google Zero Touch Portal at any time and EE has no obligation to provide the Customer with advance notice of any changes.
		3.2	Customer Obligations

- (ii) provide EE with complete, accurate and up to date Customer Data;
- (iii) ensure that it has obtained all necessary rights, permissions and other authorizations required, including from any Users of the Android Devices, for the Customer Data to be used by EE and Google to provide the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme;
- (iv) enter into any end user licence agreement with Google that Google presents to the Customer as may be amended or supplemented from time to time by the Supplier (“EULA”); and
- (v) enter into the EULA for the Customer’s own benefit and the rights, obligations, acknowledgements, undertakings, warranties and indemnities granted in accordance with the EULA are between the Customer and Google and the Customer will deal with Google with respect to any loss or damage suffered by the Customer or Google as such loss or damage will not be enforceable against EE.

3.2.2 Unless the Customer complies with the obligations stated in this Agreement, the Customer is not eligible for the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme and EE shall not be obliged to provide the Google Zero Touch Enrolment Programme.

3.2.3 If the Customer is in breach of any of its obligations in this Agreement, EE reserves the right to terminate the Google Zero Enrolment Programme with immediate effect.